Creep Feeding Will Pay In Virginia Sheep Flocks

Creep feeding will pay in Virginia flocks, George A. Allen, Jr., sheep specialist at VPI, says research has shown that early lambs that are creep fed will gain from seven to nine pounds more weight than lambs not creep fed.

Allen says to creep feeds lambs as soon as they will eat. They will eat as soon as their teeth are through and strong. At a convenient place, fix a feed trough and hay rack where lambs can eat without their mothers bothering them. Feed coarsely cracked yellow corn. Creep feed until good grass comes, and then stop. It doesn't pay to creep feed lambs that have good grass to graze.

The main thing to aim for is rapid growth, Allen says. The fastest growing lambs grade higher and are the most profitable. They take less feed per pound of gain and have less trouble with parasites.

The mother's milk is the most important food for a lamb. But even with a good flow of milk, it is necessary to add either grain or plenty of pasture after the lamb is two or three weeks old. This is the only way to guarantee a balanced ration.

Allen says also to shear the mothers early. They will stay cooler, eat more and milk better.

King Winter Tightens Local Grip

Schools to Make Up Lost Days At End Of Session In June

Public schools are closed today, adding yet another to the days to be made up during the current session.

Appomattox County public schools will make up days lost due to recent weather conditions, in the following manner:

Of the five days schools were closed, one will be made up on Good Friday, April 15, which was originally scheduled as a holiday;

The other four days will be made up by extending the school session in June. Instead of all schools closing on June 3, the new date for the end of school will be June 9.

With present weather conditions indicating that one or more days may be lost in addition to those already lost, the school authorities will make a later decision as to how to make up any further closing.

The County School Board met Tuesday, and decided against Saturday school openings to make up the lost days. This method has been decided upon in some other school divisions. However, some Southwest Virginia counties have lost more days than has Appomattox. The current severe winter weather has been rougher in the Southwest than here. A pattern of Saturday sessions seems to have been decided upon west of here.

It is understood that attendance has been satisfactory this week at most county schools. Pupils have been able to meet school buses on cleared roads, and no alarming absenteeism has been reported.

King Winter tightened its grip on most of Virginia and much of the nation today, with more snowfall.

About four inches of snow fell here during the past 24 hours, and murky skies held the potential for more. Flurries of snow and sleet fell from noon Wednesday through this morning. A total of at least four inches piled up on top of the accumulation from previous snows.

On February 12, there was a fall of 12 inches of snow. On Feb. 24, there was another 2 inches.

March 2 brought down an 11-inch snow, and this one really stuck, and piled up traffic and much of it still remains, as a result of little "thawing weather" or rain since.

Earlier in February there had been a 2-inch snow. This added up to 27 inches of snow up to Wednesday of this week.

The snowfall of yesterday and early today, has put the total snow fall well beyond the 30-inch total during the present winter seige.

In addition, the local weather reporter for the U. S. Weather Bureau, states that during this period there has also been 4.12 inches of rain.

Therefore, since February 1, we have had 4.12 inches of rain, and some 32 inches of snow.

In the period, highway and town workers have done tremendous jobs to keep highways and streets open and essential traffic has been able to move. Schools have been closed six days, including today, but most pay-roll factories and business concerns have been open.

Appomattox Native Retires After Long Career In Navy

(Editor's note: We are happy to publish below a copy of a clipping sent us, regarding a native of Appomattox County, CPO John A. Torrence.)

"Navy Chief Petty Officer John A. Torrence, of 235 Lebanon St., Malden, director of naval recruiting in New England, retired from military life this week, thus ending 22 years of service. He is the husband of Mrs. Henrietta Torrence, Malden High chemistry teacher.

"Chief Torrence's bow out of the navy occurred in a brief, simple ceremony, as he requested at the New England recruiting headquarters in Boston, with Cmdr. John A. Harmon, officer in charge of recruiting, officiating.

"The Malden man had held the post of director of 40 recruiting stations in the six-state area for the past two years.

"His lengthy period of military duty included service in both World War II and the Korean Conflict. When not called upon for recruiting, Chief Torrence was a metalsmith.

"His tour of duty took the chief to many parts of the globe, although he has called Greater Boston is home since marrying Chief and Mrs. Torrence have two children, Pauline, 17, a Malden High senior, and George A., 3.

"The family has lived in Malden for five years. Prior to becoming a teacher, Mrs. Torrence was research chemist with Lever Bros. in Cambridge.

"Chief Torrence is a native of Appomattox, Va., and entered the navy as a teenager. He started as a seaman and was appointed chief 15 years ago.

"The couple will continue to live in Malden, with the retired navyman scheduled to begin a new career Monday as a salesman for a Boston auto firm."

Dinner Meeting Legion Aux.

Mrs. J. N. Maneha, of Alexandria, president of the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Virginia, will be the guest speaker at a joint dinner meeting of the American Legion Post 104, and the American Legion Auxiliary Unit 104, which will be held at Mrs. Stanley's Steak House, on March 14, at 6:30 P. M. The price per plate is $1.50. Make reservations with Mrs. Martin Webb or Mrs. Cliff Harvey by Sunday, March 13.

Mrs. Lewis Census Leader

Mrs. Lucille C. Lewis, of Route 3, Appomattox, has been named Crew Leader for Appomattox and Buckingham Counties for the 1960 Census of Population and Housing. Her appointment was announced by John H. Castles, of the Census Bureau's temporary district office in Petersburg, Va.

Each crew leader will supervise about 20 enumerators in the big-nationwide census which begins April 1. Crew leader training began on March 9.

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

(Editor's note: Here are the questions asked most frequently by Virginia farmers during the past week, as reported by county agricultural agents. Staff members of the VPI Agricultural Extension Service and/or Experiment Station supply the answers.)

Q. Is it too late to spray for chickweed control?

A. It is getting late in many parts of the state. Be sure the alfalfa hasn't started growing before you apply the chemical.

Q. What is the lowest per cent of germination at which I can use my own soybean seed?

A. This year in Virginia most soybean seed has now germination. Therefore, 80 per cent would be a good figure.

Q. Will the use of liquid nitrogen on small grain affect the maturity date?

A. If nitrogen is needed, its use will make the maturity date more nearly normal. If you apply more than is needed, the maturity date will be delayed. The effect is the same for liquid and other forms of nitrogen generally used.

Q. What is the best way to control lice on beef cattle while the weather is too cold for spraying?

A. Use a methoxychlor dust.

Q. Should I sell my 400 to 500 pound steers in the spring sales, or graze them and sell in the fall?

A. Prices in the spring will likely be somewhat higher than in the fall. However, if you have plenty of pasture it will usually pay to graze the animals and sell in the fall.

Q. What can I do to prevent pregnancy disease in sheep?

A. Keep the ewes gaining right up to the day they lamb. When it snows, feed more heavily. If the ewes get pregnancy disease, call a veterinarian.

Q. I had trouble with groundhogs last spring. What can I do to control them?

A. One of the best ways is to use gas cartridges. County agents can tell you where to order them.

Q. How late can I seed pasture with a reasonable degree of success?

A. Latest recommended seeding dates are: March 15 in the coastal plain, April 1 in Piedmont, and April 15 in northern Virginia and west of the Blue Ridge.

Q. I have a poor stand of barley. Can I interplant oats?
